To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing in regards to Lyla McKinnon's academic and athletic prowess at Toronto Prep School.

I have had the pleasure of teaching Lyla over two courses, in both grade 11 and grade 12 Economics (Microeconomics and Macroeconomics). Lyla displayed great creativity and communication skills in the various course assessments, showing a strong understanding of Economic fundamentals. In these courses, Lyla also displayed great collaboration skills, as she worked in groups, and was responsible for creating, and implementing her ideas.

Lyla showed amazing ability in both sections of these courses. In particular, she took the Economics 12 course as a grade 11 student, and had the highest mark in the class, showing maturity, and the willingness to further her understanding.

Athletically, Lyla participated on our school hockey team, which plays in the TDCAA non-contact division, which is co-ed. Lyla showed great leadership and amazing goaltending, leading our team to an undefeated season and tournament win.

I have no reservations recommending Lyla for an athletic scholarship, as her academics and athletics are both exceptional. I have no concerns about her academic ability.
